

Please amend the claims as follows:

1. A keyed filler panel assembly comprising:
  - a filler panel body; and
  - a locating element rigidly coupled directly to said filler panel body, said locating element adapted to orient said filler panel body with respect to a chassis such that interference generating movement of said filler panel body is reduced when inserted in a mounting hole in a computer chassis.